LEARNING ANALYTICS AND UTS'S CENTRE FOR CONNECTED INTELLIGENCE

Growing unemployment and the decline of whole industries rings alarm bells for jobseekers.

How are graduates being skilled up, to grapple with a turbulent society and the seemingly unstoppable juggernaut of technology.

Well UTS is attacking the problem by preparing graduates for lifelong learning.

Myles Houlbrook-Walk talked to Professor Simon Buckingham Shum of Learning Informatics at UTS, where he is the Director of the Connected Intelligence Centre (CIC).
